

Money Matters Virtual Classes

An opportunity for children of all ages to learn and apply the concepts of finance

Money Matters is a program formed by two passionate students who want to impact the community by making sure the future is financially stable for everyone. To do this, co-founders Sanika and Jayaditya Kothari have created this program to teach the concepts of finance and its applications in the real world.

Money Matters will be taking free online classes through Google Meet to teach students from grades kindergarten to twelfth the concepts of finance and why money matters in-depth! Students will begin learning introductory topics such as saving and budgeting to more advanced topics such as retirement and investing. There are 10 main topics in the whole curriculum. To see the whole syllabus, visit the Money Matters' website.

To sign up, go to the Money Matters' website at <https://moneymatters4ever.wixsite.com/moneymatters>, and sign up via a google form on the Classes page. We would like to keep a class size of no more than seven students per group, who will be accepted on a first come-first serve basis. If you are not selected for the first group, you will be put on a wait list for the next one.

What: Online Money Matters classes to teach finance

Who: Co-founders Sanika and Jayaditya Kothari

When: The time and date will be told to you after you sign up

Where: Virtually through Google Meet

Why: To teach students the concepts of finance

For more information visit Money Matters' website at: <https://moneymatters4ever.wixsite.com/moneymatters>

If you have any questions, comments, or suggestions, please contact us at moneymatters4ever@gmail.com.

Sanika Kothari, Co-Founder

Sanika is a sophomore at Parkland High School, with a passion to give all people the necessary financial education they need to be on the right path for financial stability in the future. She co-founded Money Matters to provide students with this education of financial literacy. Sanika is a Science Olympiad National Gold Medalist, as well as a member of Future Business Leaders of America, Science Fair, and the Parkland Math League. Additionally, Sanika is an Indian classical dancer and pianist.

Jayaditya Kothari, Co-Founder

Jayaditya is an eighth grader at Springhouse Middle School who wants to give the knowledge of financial literacy to all. His aim when co-founding Money Matters was to educate others to give them a more stable future. Jayaditya is part of his school's Science Olympiad team, Science Fair, and Parkland's Math League. He also does karate, piano, Boy Scouts, and soccer.

